BERLIN STOCK RISE

NOT GOOD IN GOLD

Bank Warns Customers Not to Expect Big Profits by Selling.

VALUES AGAINST THEM

General Financial Situation in Germany a Puzzle to Economists.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD, Copyright, 1921, by THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, London, Nov. 13.

The unparalleled rise in stock quotations the last fortnight does not represent in gold values what it seems.

A leading banking house in a private circular warns its customers not to figure on making handsome profits by selling, despite the record prices.

It appends a table showing the relative value of a few of the leading stocks in October, when the dollar was worth 15 marks, and in November, when it is worth 300, and giving the figure in the per cent of the gold value as follows:

Gesellschaft, October 11; November 3 per cent. Phoenix, October 31; November 23. Harpener, October 35; November 27. Rheinthal, October 35; November 27. A. E. G., October 22; November 15. Lloyd, October 12; November 10. Schwabkopf, October 21; November 22. Daimler, October 16; November 11. Badische Anilin, October 21; November 15. Totteville, October 28; November 18. Deutsche Kraft, October 18; November 18.

The question of relative values continues to perplex the German business world and economists keep reminding of the fact that even the basic price on commodities such as iron, coal and wheat are considerably below the peace time level.

The price of pig iron a ton in September was $120, as against $21.20 in 1913. The price of Silesian hard coal was $4, as against $2.15, and wheat $4.70, as against $4.50 in 1913.

The contrast in most prices is even greater to-day, when gold is about 70 times more valuable than paper.

Food prices have more than doubled since July.

Increases in capital are regularly announced on the Berlin Stock Exchange. Two of the largest increases last week were the Barmerbank Verein, which raised its capital to 400,000,000 marks, and the Dresdener Bank, which raised its capital to 500,000,000 marks.

Its capital to 500,000,000 marks. With this decision the Barmerbank sets at rest the report that the institution would merge with one of the large banks in Berlin.

The Dresdener bank increase has been purposely delayed, but the banking business is becoming more and more the filling of stock exchange orders, instead of handling savings accounts, and in the Dresdener bank foreign deposits increased remarkably, making an increase in capital necessary.

The Dresdener bank is said to transact more business of the stock exchange now than any other bank in Berlin.

The bank note circulation is 92,500,000,000 marks, or an increase of 1,000,000,000,000 in the week. Darlehn Kassen circulation is 1,000,000,000 in circulation, and only slightly more than 7,000,000,000 marks worth are outstanding.

The Reichsbank possesses only a little more than 14,000,000,000 marks to form its exchange, a decrease of almost 4,500,000,000 in the week.

BANK OPENS IN PENN ZONE.

Terminal Exchange Has Quarters at 7th Ave. and 30th St.

The Terminal Exchange Bank of New York, a new business institution, will open its doors to-day for the first time in the new Penn Terminal Building, Seventh avenue and Thirtieth street.

The bank, in addition to ordinary banking functions, will operate on a special interest department and a safe deposit vault system.

The president of the bank is Harry H. Reisman, and its officers and directors include the following: Harry H. Reisman, Frank Hedy, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company; Harry Henemer, who will serve as its vice-president and cashier; Charles H. Gallagher, its assistant cashier; Robert C. Montgomery of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation; George Olney, Hugh J. Pritchard, vice-president and treasurer of the A. J. Rubber Corporation, and Herbert Vreeland.

AIR TO COOL MOTORS.

General Company Finishes Experimental Models.

Pierre S. du Pont, president of the General Motors Corporation, issued yesterday a statement describing work being done by his organization to develop air cooled automobile motors. The corporation, he stated, had been experimenting on that and other types of motors for several years, and processes had been carried to the point where experimental models had been completed.

"As to when production will commence, what manufacturing divisions of the corporation will develop and sell these models," he added, "of necessity must be held in abeyance until such time as the experimental development work is finally completed and the corporation assured that these new products, which it must necessarily stand sponsor for, are everything that might be desired."

Oils Develop Strength With Home Rails and Industrials in Recovery.

RUBBER AGAIN LIVELY

Lower Bank Rates Are Stimulating Revival of Trade.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD, Copyright, 1921, by THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, London, Nov. 13.

The political outlook, as viewed by the Prime Minister, gives indications of a revival of trade, and the expectations of the Chancellor of the Exchequer that there would be no budget deficit, although he might have borrowed to meet the sinking fund charges, impressed the stock markets last week, causing it to show a distinct improvement. The close, however, was rather quiet in consequence of a lot of net borrowing by professionals on the conclusion of the underwriting of the new West Australia 6 per cent, £3,000,000 loan and the forthcoming issue for a £2,000,000 loan to Siam.

This led to profit snatching in various directions, resulting in a fractional lowering of quotations at the end.

One of the brightest spots was the oil section, which, developed more strength than in many months.

Home rails and industrials also bucked up well, while after hibernating for the greater part of a year the rubber market came to life again. Signs of recovery in the commodity market have attracted attention to the share group, and as very little stock is on offer just now, quotations have risen sharply on little buying.

The markets generally thus appear to be on the high road to recovery all around, and unless there are political jars the improvement should continue fairly steady.

The lower bank rates already are beginning to have a good effect, not only by causing withdrawals of deposits for investments, but by stimulating the trade revival. The latter factor may, sooner or later, divert money from the stock exchange for employment in trade, but that stage has not yet been reached.

The better trade outlook is mainly responsible for the recovery of British rails, and having regard for the fact that the movement started from very nearly the lowest quotation of the year there is ample scope for further advances in this market, notwithstanding the general belief that dividends will be reduced for the current half year.
